

Business Process Mapping

Optimize Business Operations

Philosophy

i3 has the capabilities and expertise to take your business to the next level. Whether process development, optimization or simplification; our approach aligns the strategic goals of the organization to the tactical activities of the business units. By linking the front-line to the bottom-line, our clients become positioned to meet their objectives and achieve their goals.

If you're looking to integrate technology, you need to know your business processes and where a solution can add value. Whether you're looking to implement or replace an EAM, ERP, CMMS or incorporate mobile devices, advanced analytics or simply better utilize your data; i3's approach will identify opportunities, work with you to develop an innovative solution, and implement process improvements that best utilize your data and chosen technology.

Having a clear understanding of where you are today is key for understanding what better looks like.

Benefits

Business process mapping is a critical function of any improvement initiative. This activity:

- Allows the organization to visualize it's core functions
- Identifies waste and opportunities
- Clarifies roles and responsibilities
- Defines to what standards a process should be completed
- Highlights inter-departmental touchpoints
- Clearly illustrates how the success of the process is determined
